LexisNexis Practical Guidance

Navigation improvements and enhancements to look and feel

LexisNexis Practical Guidance has undergone an upgrade to its appearance, introducing a cleaner and more intuitive experience.

Beginning this week, three main changes will be rolling out to your Practical Guidance account:

- 1) The usual homepage pods have been grouped and consolidated to streamline the layout and generally reduce clutter. All of your usual topics and content are listed as before, but are tidier and easier to browse;
- 2) We've introduced a new, central homepage, which gives you a clear view of the practice areas you are subscribed to and allows you to search across all of the content in your subscription, rather than just one practice area at a time; and
- 3) There is also a new navigation pane within each module to improve navigating and browsing between different topics. You can switch between these without having to return to the homepage of the module.
